The library is organised into 3 main sections--the first section is the shelving on the northern wall which has general engineering and repair books,(some of which have chapters on individual makes used as examples); and workshop, parts and owner's manuals for American and British cars and trucks. The second section is the compactus which has manuals for European and Asian makes, manuals for motorcycles, a few spare parts catalogues, and general reading books about cars and motorbikes. The third section is the shelving on the southern wall where there are miscellaneous books and part of the magazine collection. The manuals for individual makes are mostly for the late 1930s to the 1970s; the veteran and vintage items are few. The motorcycle manual collection is small.			Left half of Top shelf, northern end multivolume sets include Automobile Engineer--(1950-60s UK and European cars, trucks, buses); Automobile Maintenance (Kuns) 1920-30s etc , mostly US and includes steamers and m/cycles); Automobile Repair (Molloy), Newnes, 1930-50s, mostly UK includes buses etc); The book of the motorcar (Rankin, UK and European, incl Steamers & electric);Home Study Internat Corres Course bklets covering US brands of components);Internat Textbook Co, 20+ volumes, US brands of components); second shelf of left side has AutoServ repair volumes mostly UK of 1960s; Motor's Auto Repair, US 1960s and Motor's Truck Repair US 1950s; third shelf, big National Service Manual of US vehicles. Right side of top shelf- sets are nearly all UK/European of 1930- 50s; also 1950s TAS Motor Trade journals with new car rego ;

If you can't find a manual for your car try general repair manuals that service stations had such as the British Repair manuals for the 1950s or Motor's Auto Repair Manuals which mostly cover 1940s to 1960s American makes. In the compactus there are also lubrication, specifications and tune-up data books (eg Rollins, BP, Motors, Hemmings, National) mostly for 1930s to 1970s The compactus also has a collection of auto mechanics textbooks and small collections of books on carburettors, electrical (including Standard Auto-Electrician's Manual), body repair, welding, stationary engines, mowers and farm equipment, etc

The spare parts catalogues are mostly 1950s onwards but often have details of older models; the general catalogues like Repco, Blackwoods etc catalogues are in the compactus, but the collections of catalogues about engine and transmission parts, electrical items, brakes, exhaust systems, chassis parts, seals and wheel bearings, gaskets, tyres, filters etc are mostly in the Spares Shed

The general reading books in the compactus include items on the history of transport, veteran and vintage cars, sports and racing cars, motorcycles.

On the southern wall the shelves have a collection of miscellaneous books, motorcycle magazines, newsletters from different car clubs for the last couple of years, a collection of (Tasmanian) Primary Drive and Small Torque newsletters, plus part of the car magazine collection that won't fit in the 'inner room'. The auto paint charts/books are here too plus scrapbook and poster items.

There are 3 filing cabinets basically of VCCA meeting minutes, rally guides, correspondence etc, but 2 drawers of one of them house a collection of road tests collected from car magazines mostly from the 1940s to 1960s (J McRae's donation)

The 'inner (locked) room' houses most of the collection of many titles of car magazines, alphabetically by title. The collection of magazines is mostly 1950-1990; of the older ones, the Autocar for instance has a few issues from 1908-1911, none of the 1912 to 1928 issues, has most of 1930-1934, and a fairly complete collection from 1947 to 1960. Motor (UK) magazine is held for most 1909-1914 issues, most 1936-1942 issues, and most 1949-72 issues. Of the Australian titles, Modern Motor is fairly complete from 1954-1978; Motor Manual fairly complete from 1947-53; Restored Cars nearly complete; Wheels fairly complete from 1954-80. Other examples include Motor Sport (UK) which is held for most of 1953-1979; Veteran and Vintage magazine held for most of 1958-79; and Thoroughbred and Classic Cars held for most of 1974-85. There are many gaps in every title.

The James Flood books 1-4, the Manchester Truck instruction book and parts list, and two scrapbooks of Tasmanian motoring (Gordon Fysh) photos from 1900-1909 (in a wooden case) are kept in this locked room for safekeeping.(A DVD copy of these photos is on the DVD shelves.) The master set of Small Torque is here too.

There are many general reading car and motorcycle books in the bookcases upstairs.
